TO OUR PARENTS

To you whose love and devotion has inspired us to seek an education so that we may have a better life,
Whose firm faith and fervent prayers have provided a rock in a weary land, a shelter in the time of storm,
We wish to express our sincere gratitude and deep appreciation.

We are grateful, not only for what you are, but for what you have done to help us face the storms of life.

Thus, we have dedicated this yearbook to you, Our Parents, as our way of saying "thank you."

Our Principal

Dear Seniors:

It gives me pleasure to say a word of congratulation at this eventful time. There can be no more inspiring sight than a group of boys and girls, sturdy with the health of youth, alert with enthusiasm and vigor, who are interested in education. Pleasure may be alluring, other forms of work maybe more enjoyable, but the boys and girls who buckle down to the lessons of school are the ones who know the greatest joy of life.

We are glad that we have been able, here, to give you the foundation for a broad education. You have reached the foothills - the real climb up the mountain of learning still awaits you. Let me urge you today to continue your studies; plan to attend college or some other institution of learning. No matter what work you are to follow, do not neglect God's way, for His guidance is the dependable of all paths.

I congratulate you upon your attainment and extend to you the best wishes of the Administrative staff and teachers of this school. May you be successful in your chosen undertakings of life and become men and women whom we shall be proud to recognize as students of Robert R. Moton High School.

Yours for progress,
S. F. Griffin, Principal

Class History

On September 8, 1950, a group consisting of 128 eighth graders, entered the portals of Robert R. Moton High School, looking forward to those exciting and exhilarating experiences which we had only dreamed of heretofore.

We were met with a tragedy in the early portion of the first semester when one of our most beloved classmates was killed in an accident.

Upon entering Moton, we had intriguing and creative ideas; such as, setting out to achieve the honors of becoming proud members and officers of the various clubs and organizations.

Being intelligent and well-educated students, we did not rush or push ourselves into these new experiences stumbling and falling blindly, but on the contrary, we felt our way slowly and surely until we became accustomed and adjusted to this different way of life.

In our Freshman year we strived and succeeded in becoming honorary members and officers of a few clubs and organizations. It was then that we began to feel the sense of responsibility that we had not felt so much in the past years.

We took upon our shoulders these sundry duties and carried out our tasks with vim, vigor, and vitality. Although we could see ourselves progressing tremendously, we could handle them competently.

In our Sophomore Year many of us were by the respective members, officers and even chairmen of several club-committees and class organizations. A great number of the students knew by then what vocation they wanted to enter. Some desired to be nurses, others doctors, a few lawyers, several wanted to be artists, and some were captivated with professional football. These students were intelligent enough to take courses and to study that they might prepare themselves for their ultimate goals.

Our Junior Year was the most exciting of all the years in the past. The honor and glory of being respected students of Robert R. Moton grew and grew enormously in our hearts. Many of the students made Moton proud of them for outstanding achievements; for instance, Richard Monroe added glory to the name of Moton by becoming the best right-end in football in the second district of the VIAL in 1954.

Many of us participated in the beautiful and inspiring Palm Sunday Pageant in 1954, among us were Willie Shepperson who was a believable Simon Peter; Clarence Banks portrayed Judas and Frank Watson brought Pontius Pilate back to life for the audience. James Carter, James Jackson, Joan Johns, Sara West, Branch Washington, Venice Franklin, Dolly Goode, and others were among those whose voices blended in the choral recital. Edwilda Allen did a wonderful job as the accompanist in the Pageant.

The harmonious voices of the NFA quartet delighted Moton by winning first place in competition with NFA units throughout the state for three consecutive years, for which they received a trophy. The members of the quartet who were seniors in 1954-55 were Andrew Woolridge, George Reed, and Charlie Franklin.

We feel proud of the fact that we gave the Seniors of 1954 the most beautiful and elaborate prom ever given at Moton. We all had a wonderful time.

In our Senior Year we decided to sponsor a yearbook. We all knew that it would entail a lot of work; but the thought of it did not bother us. We felt that through the diligent work of such teachers as: Miss R. C. West, Mrs. J. M. Dyson, Mrs. L. M. Harris and the yearbook committee we could make the yearbook a success.

There are other things that could be mentioned in this, the History of the class of 1955; but in conclusion, I would like to add that the cherished memories of the 'good old days' at Moton gone by, will remain eternally in our hearts.

Frank J. Watson

Senior Class Creed

We believe that this senior class has the potentialities to become the best class that ever has passed through R. R. Moton.

We believe in God, who has guided and protected us.

We believe in our parents and guardians who have loved and encouraged us.

We believe in the principal and the teachers who have aided us in our search for knowledge and truth.

We believe in the school which has nourished us and will fittingly be called our "Alma Mater."

We believe in ourselves. We have faith that we shall use our education to become better people and, that we shall use it to build a better world.

Margaree Jones

Class Song

I

Farewell to Thee dear Moton,
School we've loved so long;
Now that we're leaving your halls
To Thee we sing our song.

II

We carry with us all your hopes;
On and upward is our goal.
To high standards we will hold, always.

III

We sing our farewell to Thee,
Inspired by many things;
Hoping success will follow,
Wondering what life will bring.

IV

Would that we live up to your aims-
Loving kind, wise, and just;
We'll always keep your teachings
In view before us.

Lavonne Terrell

Class Poem

The class of 1955 is leaving now with zest
The portals of dear Moton High,
To meet life's rugged test.

Our days here have been crowded
With many memories dear,
And now we each our separate way
Embark upon careers.

Singers, housewives, farmers, teachers,
Doctors, lawyers, mechanics, preachers,
Artists, dancers, nurses in white
Stenographers, scientists, soldiers, with might
Business, florists added to this
Undertakers and actors help make up the list.

Many, many thanks to those who've aided us thus far
Parents, teachers, officials, friends have been our guiding star.

Farewell, dear Alma Mater,
Your memories we'll hold
Forever, and a day from now
Our cherished purple and gold.

Class Prophecy

November, 1965, 7:30 A.M. As I approached the metropolis, a beautiful service station came into view. It had the new '65 look. I drove up, stopped and looked around. What to my wondering eyes should appear, but a sign which read, "If Norman and Andrew Can't Fix Your Car, NOBODY Can." Their business is booming.

About 10:30 A.M., I heard drums and bugles. It was time for the parade! (I found out that the band was so large, that it had to be divided.) Joseph Hines was directing the first band. Guess who was leading the second? Armer Lee Watkins!

Remember when we used to decorate the floats with crepe paper? All of these floats were decorated with real flowers! This was a miniature Rose Bowl.

In the middle of the parade were Moton's capable coaches, Junius Walker, Robert Goode, and Henry Scott. The trophy cases are overflowing now.

I read in the morning papers that Thomas Holcomb is being chased by talent scouts from the Dodgers, Yankees, Giants, Indians and Braves.

As I passed by Mary E. Branch, I saw Rosa Gibson standing beside her little pupils watching the parade.

When I turned into the new highway and gazed at Moton--my heart did a sommer-sault. She certainly did look beautiful. There were trees and benches on the campus, flowers that bloomed year 'round.

The faculty has changed, too. In the Math department I found Bessie Woodson and Sallie Earley discussing the Math - Science Conference. They have special trophy cases for the certificates, trophies and awards that have been won at previous conferences.

Down stairs in the locker room, I found Sarah West and Venice Franklin rehearsing the cheering squads for the big game.

In the auditorium some students were rehearsing the play "Macbeth." Directing the production was Maude Walker, head of the English department.

The Moton Eagles slaughtered that team, and so we really had something to celebrate.

When I arrived at the dance, I found the leading Farmville mechanics, James Carter, John Scott, Jesse Brown, Freddie Booker, and James Jones discussing the newest features in the '65 cars. I noticed their Cadillacs parked outside.

Richard Monroe, the state's most prominent business administrator, was sharing memories of the '55 typing class with such successful secretaries as Alberta Cobbs, Dolly Goode, Queenie Barksdale, Margaree Jones, Fannie Hines, Gretna Greene, Emma Jones, Tola Gordon, and Helen Sims.

Ronald Booker has a chain of Business Schools; directing two of the schools are LaVonne Terrell and Joy Carbarrus. Nannie Booker, Mildred Layne, Ola Wilks, Kate Monroe, Vivian Ross are secretaries to his firm. Anita Ross, a "singing secretary," has her own show three times a week on radio and TV.

Anna Carey, Flossie Harris, Leitha Saunders, Catherine Goode, Ophelia Paige, Mary Gordon, Florine Adkins, Mable Walker and Dorothy Davis, all nurses, were delighted to see each other at the dance. I bet the patients get well quick since these capable nurses have come to work at the hospitals.

Glancing at the door, I saw two nationally known figures; Senator John Monroe and Lawyer Willie Shepperson.

Later, making a grand entrance was model Florence Thompson, wearing one of Louanna Suckins' latest creations. Louanna's latest fashions were modeled by Florence on the cover of Life and Vogue.

The ladies' hair-do's that were catching the men's eyes, were designed by Isabelle Haskins and Lucy Griggs, two of the city's most successful beauticians.

Thomas Richardson and Frank Watson, the local engineers, were trading ideas with James Jackson and Leon Schenck, engineers for the government.

Mildred Townsend owns a share in the factory where she once worked. The business is steadily increasing.

Joan Johns, statistician for the F.B.I., George Reed, the Bobby-Soxer's latest craze, Charlie Franklin, owner of the million dollar barbering school and I, the music therapist at Johns Hopkins Hospital, had a long laugh together about old times.

George Morton, the local funeral director, enjoys all the dances in spite of his business.

Lt. Branche Washington was chatting with Joseph Ross and Eddie Leigon, now truck drivers.

Ernest Wilder, the brick mason and Clarence Banks, the carpenter, could hardly find time from their busy schedule to attend the social.

A tired, but happy and successful group danced the entire evening. The Class of '55 plans to meet again at dear ole Moton in '75. See you then. Okay?
